Additional Information:

Join us for an evening of food, fellowship, and great information. ARWA, ADEM, USDA and others come together to speak directly to Alabama water and wastewater system decisionmakers about current topics that directly impact those systems and their customers. How can you navigate the generational funding available to you? Are you ready for the money? How can you best build a team that will keep your system moving forward in the current workforce environment? What can you do about upcoming PFAS rulings and changes? Are you prepared to engage with current and future regulatory requirements? Answer these questions and much more during this Decisionmaker training event. We'll see you there!
